The Last Word...first!!!

WOW...the last several months have been eventful.

We re-branded as Office Move Pro in November, watched our economy (almost instantaneously) spiral out of control, launched a National Website, appeared on Rogers TV, were featured in Canadian Facilities Management and Design magazine, started a new operation in Calgary and secured the largest move in the GTA awarded this year. In addition to all of this, and while I complete our inaugural "Get Moving Newsletter", we have secured several other substantial moves, one (in part) because of our fantastic website, and we are about to experience the busiest fall moving season in our history.

It appears to me, and hopefully everyone at Office Move Pro, that our hard work, determination, commitment and passion has certainly paid off and that we have reached our "Turning Point"...CONGRATULATIONS EVERYONE!

Leo Thibodeau, President

Meet "Sparky The Moving Lady"

As a Partner and Vice President of Sales for OMP Calgary, Lyn Archdekin is known as "Sparky the Moving Lady" Over the 23 years Lyn has been in the moving industry, she has held almost every position that has to do with moving. Accordingly, she has been an owner, a supervisor, a driver, a packer, a dispatcher, and right down to a dollie-pusher. Currently, as Vice President of Sales at Office Move Pro (Calgary), Lyn's responsibilities include sourcing leads, booking, and coordinating moves. In her role, Lyn is committed to ensuring that her clients can count on a seamless, stress-free move and are able to continue in their work. Lyn notes that she enjoys every aspect of a company moving assignment, as well as the challenge that every move represents.

With all that, "Sparky the Moving Lady" is passionate about flawlessly bringing together every aspect of a customer move, being part of an energetic and motivated team, and seeing the company grow in excellence and in sales.

EnviroMove - Office Decommissioning

Vacating an office will likely require decommissioning to some extent. Our goal, given enough time, is to develop a plan that focuses on meeting the end of lease requirements, as identified by your landlord, while maintaining best environmental practices throughout the decommissioning process. This result ensures the client receives the full value of their security deposit, limits their liability, with a single point of contact, and will eliminate additional charges due to lease extensions.

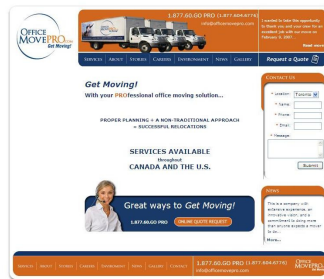

The EnviroMove experience speaks for itself, having started four years ago developing processes and procedures, completing hundreds of projects and being associated with various organizations that are similar in nature, it's very rewarding to see this program come together and take shape. To-date, EnviroMove has completed several projects utilizing some of the program features such as re-use, redistribution and recycling. On one project specifically, the recycling efforts amounted to the return of over $1200.00 in rebates for the client to pledge to a charity of their choice.

What's Next

Please participate...As part of a "social networking experiment" we think Office Moving should be better represented on YouTube. As such, were looking for ideas to produce a video that reflects our business, our culture and is as professional as we are. If you have any idea's please contact Scott in our Toronto office at sgoodbrand@officemovepro.com

We have recently received all of the information necessary from our Calgary office to update our website. Updates will include adding Calgary's staff profiles, fixing several minor mistakes, updating the letters of reference and the Gallery.

As noted above in "The Last Word", we actually had a client book with us because they liked the youthful nature of our site, such as the fun photo's, and the family feeling they had when reading the profiles. Doesn't that just make everyone feel so proud of what we have accomplished!

OUR VISION...To be the customers' first choice for their office relocation needs and the industry's recognized leader in service excellence, quality and value.

OUR MISSION...We deliver exceptional office relocation experiences through a team of extraordinary people who are professional, motivated and committed to service excellence.
